As an experienced teacher and practicing parent, I want to be a resource for you and you can spend time saving you this time because of having conversations with your child and being awesome parents! What do you eat in the learning activities? Where do they live? What does a real polar deer look like? As parents, we know that children are naturally curious about the symptoms they see around them. During the winter vacation season, often referred to in literature and songs. They have become a symbol of winter and Christmas. As educators, we know we can use a child's natural To help create everyday moments, learning opportunities. It's also called my friend - parents!!!? If you have to listen and read a book about the polar deer with your child- great! Add a deer craft-you go! You are your child's #1 teacher. There is a choice on how we want to spend our time with our children. I choose to learn, make, play and cook with my kids when the opportunity arises. Add some learning games and activities to further these preparation and reading activities and to enhance your child's education and improve it. Create a week (or month) of a specific subject and you have teachers called unit study. A unit study finds more than one different learning activity about a particular subject, games, songs, stories, crafts and more. You and your child will dig deeper into this subject, will develop more and more knowledge and more complex words about this subject. This month, my kids and I are going to focus on the polar deer (a caribio). I have accumulated resources to use with your children. Select and choose a few that you think your family will enjoy.
